

The History and Law of Rap, featuring Shea Serrano

The UH Law Center Sports and Entertainment Law Organization is proud to present a special guest speaker, the award-winning writer Shea Serrano.

Serrano has written for ESPN's Grantland.com, LA Weekly, Houston Press, and many other websites. His second book, The Rap Year Book: The Most Important Rap Song From Every Year Since 1979, Discussed, Debated, and Deconstructed, is set to be released this month.

Serrano will be discussing his new book, the publishing process, and various aspects of the rap genre. A panel of UHLC professors will be on hand to help discuss recent legal issues involving rap and free speech, including Michael A. Olivas and Justen Barks.

The event will be on Monday, October 12, at 4:30 pm in 144 BLB, UH Law Center

SELO will give away 5 copies of Serrano's new book to attendees chosen at random.
